Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 6 the phrase "the collar" lacks antecedent basis rendering the claim vague and indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cagliari (5732483).

Cagliari shows a boot comprising a sole (4), an upper (2) which is made of thermoplastic material which is considered to be "impervious", an outer reinforcing element (3) which is cemented (adhesively bonded, column 3 line 1 and column 4 lines 15-25) to the upper as claimed.

4. Claims 1-4, and 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ferrettie (2306306).

Ferrettie shows a boot comprising a sole (17), an upper (11) which is made of leather which is considered to be "impervious", an outer reinforcing element (19, which has a heel portion with lateral flaps extending therefrom, i.e. sides) and the sides are considered to be "tightening flaps" inasmuch as applicant has defined such in the claims, an outer seam in the upper (22 and/or formed at heel by attachment of the stiffener element 13, shown in figure 2) which is covered by cementing the reinforcing element over the seam (see page 2 column 1 lines 60-65) as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ferrettie in view of either Barrett (5940990) or Donnadieu (5704138).

Ferrettie shows a boot substantially as claimed except for an inner tightening system. Barrett or Donnadieu teaches providing an inner tightening system (10 or 8). It would have been obvious to provide an inner tightening system as taught by either Barrett or Donnadieu in the boot of Ferrettie to increase support of the foot.

7. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cagliari in view of Tomaro (5499459).

Cagliari shows a boot with a detachable liner (29) substantially as claimed except for the exact liner having a shock absorbing sole. Tomaro teaches forming a detachable liner (12) with a shock absorbing sole (14, layer 32, see column 2 lines 60-65). It would have been obvious to use the detachable liner of Tomaro for the liner in the boot of Cagliari to increase comfort, insulation, etc..
